Guest Artist Laura Samuel from The Belcea quartet (UK) works with a young string quartet of British and American Students during a Masterclass in Oxford

Youth Music International, a non-profit organization, believes that by establishing unique international musical collaborations between motivated individuals in a setting of extraordinary beauty, we will create the most fertile environment for musical inspiration. Our mission is to create an environment where music can be experienced as a transforming personal force heightened by the mutual enrichment of other cultures. This musical experience with its exposure to an international spectrum of ideas, has the power to generate a deeper consciousness of understanding. Permanently expanding both the spirit and creative vision of each individual, it will immerse students, faculty and audiences in an unforgettable musical experience.
